

Jonathan James Santos

Project Manager

Jonathan James Santos is a Project Manager in the Better Hearts Better Cities initiative, a multi-stakeholder and cross disciplinary platform to address cardiovascular health in urban settings in low- and middle-income countries.

Prior to joining the Novartis Foundation in March 2018, Jonathan worked at the World Health Organization (WHO) in Geneva, Switzerland and at the WHO Regional Office for the Western Pacific based in Manila, Philippines in the areas of digital health, noncommunicable diseases, improving access to medicines and medical products through local production, tobacco control, and public health innovation and research. He worked in the Republic of the Marshall Islands Ministry of Health and at the Boston Medical Centre before joining WHO.

Jonathan holds a Master of Public Health from Boston University and a Bachelor of Science in Biology from Loyola Marymount University. He is currently completing his Doctorate in Business Administration at the Grenoble École de Management in Grenoble, France.