

Zaahira Gani

Project Manager

Zaahira Gani is a Project Manager at the Novartis Foundation, working with international partners on projects working toward the elimination of leprosy and malaria.

Prior to joining the Novartis Foundation in March 2016, Zaahira worked in Preclinical Safety, Translational Medicine at Novartis. Additionally, Zaahira has experience in global health focusing on disease prevention in Singapore, Indonesia and Kenya.

Zaahira holds an MSc in Pharmaceutical Medicine with a focus on low- and middle-income countries. She holds a Master's degree in Immunology and Infection from the University of Birmingham in the United Kingdom.